What is CSR?

EU: SR is (a concept for the integration) management by organizations of social and environmental concerns in their operations and in their interaction with their stakeholders.

USCIB: Commitment by a company to manage its roles in society in a responsible and sustainable manner, including a set of voluntary principles that seek to ensure that the company has a positive impact on the societies in which it operates.

COPOLCO: A framework for measuring and reporting corporate performance against social parameters such as ethical values, compliance with laws, and respect for people, communities and the environment. This includes substantive obligations owed to all of a firm’s affected stakeholders throughout the supply chain, from customers, workers and their families, to suppliers, the greater community, the environment, investors, shareholders, and governments. Key features include a consistent and comprehensive approach to process, performance, transparency, accountability, public disclosure, meaningful stakeholder involvement, and reporting.
